

The Church needs Champions... every champion needs a coach.

Jon has brought his message of trusting God in time, talent and treasure to some of the largest and most dynamic churches in the country as well as to several nations of the world.

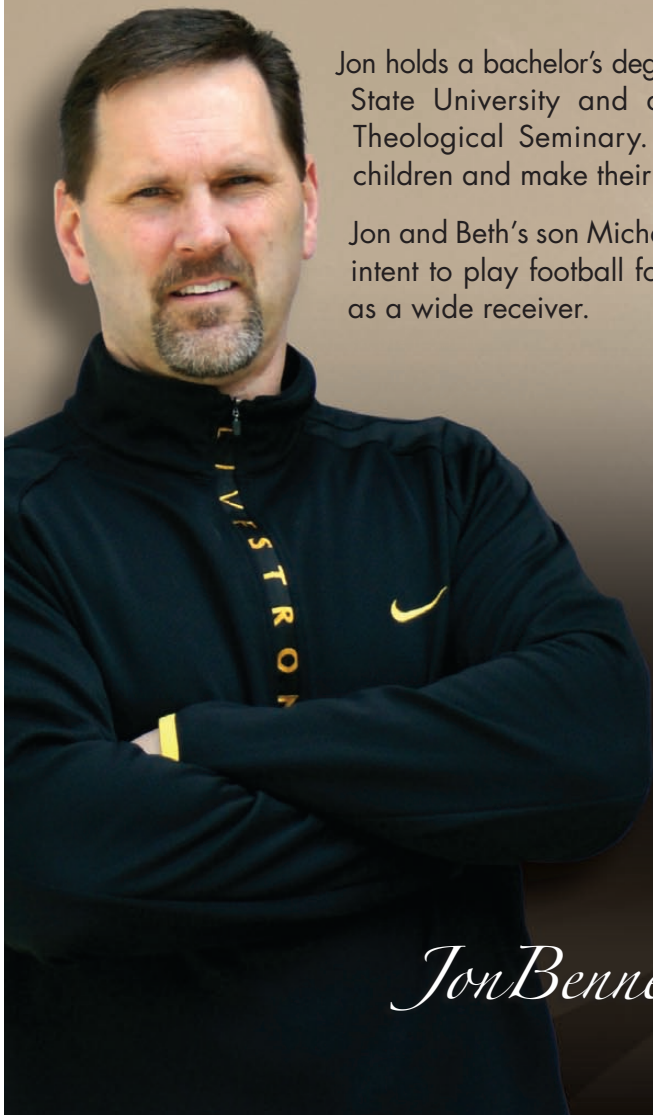

Driven by experience and passion, Jon works with growing churches to release their potential and fulfill their God-given vision. Jon is a natural coach. His skills are accompanied by an energy and creativity that draws teams together. Through solutions-based strategic planning, Jon has effectively equipped ministries across the nation and around the world with the tools needed to grow to the next-level.

Jon has a rich background of ministry leadership. He has had firsthand experience raising millions of dollars to fund missions projects, church plants, building campaigns and campus outreaches. He draws from his experience as a lead pastor of a successful church plant, along with his tenure as a senior staff member at an 8,500-member church and as an associate pastor of a church in the Northeast.

"I left pastoring at the local church level after 20 years...to go back in and partner with pastors and ministry leaders. I believe my life's call is to 'champion the vision of others' and see 'every ministry fully resourced.'"

Jon holds a bachelor's degree in communications from Michigan State University and a master's degree from Reformed Theological Seminary. Jon and his wife Beth have three children and make their home in North Metro Atlanta.

Jon and Beth's son Michael has just signed a national letter of intent to play football for the University of Georgia Bulldogs as a wide receiver.
